Kelso School of Music Notes.
The extreme heat does not lessen the interest in the Kelso method. Mrs. Hays has received letters enquiring if arrangements could be made for her to give a special course similar to that given by Mr. Kelso.

Several individual recitals will be given next month by advanced pupils. Miss Mabel Farr and Mr. Elroy Hamlin are preparing very interesting programs. Miss Mabel Magill is practicing diligently on a fine program to be given in this school and also in Chicago this winter.

That it is possible to make a study of chords interesting to children, was demonstrated this week by one of the younger pupils remarking that she is able to distinguish the diminished seventh chords when she hears them played, especially in church music they are more easily recognized. This pupil has made practical application of the training in chords and training she has received. The attainment of the faculty of listening correctly to the point of being able to distinguish the various elements that make a musical composition a work of art is invaluable to the student of music. This necessitates a comprehensive knowledge of harmony and analysis of musical form. It is not sufficient to merely study these branches and acquire skill in analyzing a composition, but to become proficient and capable of recognizing the following particulars that bearing a composition: "Meaning and phrases, and their vital relationship to other parts, the grouping of sections in contrast with and enhance the effects of each; the rich and varied quality of the accompaniment of partial and grand climaxes and the illuminable resources used by masters in the art of music."

The frequent neglect of this part of a musical education is particularly obvious to those who observe students in their attendance upon concerts and learn the impression musical performances make upon them.

For the purpose of perfect enjoyment of music the desire to fathom branches embodying the principles mentioned, should be installed in pupils. From the analysis of a simple piece with its tonic and dominant harmonies, to that of a Beethoven Sonata or symphony, is a most fascinating study and should be begun early. These pupils learn to listen intelligently and derive the intense pleasure which comes from a thorough knowledge of music.

The recital given last Monday evening by Ellen Smith, pupil of Miss Olive Hill, was well attended and highly enjoyed as was testified by the appreciative audience. The entire program was rendered from memory. She is quite a talented little girl and with careful training will develop into a fine pianist. Opal Rempeare recited two selections in a very graceful manner.

Miss Olive Hill is spending her vacation in Eureka Springs. The Junior Kelso Club met Saturday at the regular hour. The meeting was called to order by Hugh Gill, acting as president. The program was interesting as usual. Piano solos were played by Minnie Stevens, Florence Drake, Vera Knoblauch, Gladys Williams, Luella Herbig, Ellen Smith and Hugh Gill. The leaders for the next meeting are:

Drill in English—Ellen Smith.
Chords and Scales—Minnie Stevens.
Life of Schumann—Hugh Gill.
DeMars—Luella Herbig.

Review of Life of Wagner—Vera Knoblauch.

Sickner Conservatory Notes.
Harry Conley has gone to Chicago, where he will remain until about the 15th of September.

The Rev. N. Phillips, of Oswego, Kan., an old friend of Prof. Sickner, visited the latter Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Ralph Wolverton, of the Organ school, is at the St. Francis hospital, suffering with typhoid fever.

Miss Laura Snyder is out camping on the Walnut.

Misses Mabel Glenn and Merle Hare, are enjoying a short vacation with friends at Derby.

Miss Anna Hazleton has returned from a two-week's visit to her sister in Burlington, Kan.

Little Marjorie Hazleton is taking medical treatment at the St. Francis hospital and will not be able to continue her music for some time.

Miss Cora Richards has enrolled for piano study; her parents have left their home in Sumner county to live in Wichita because of the superior advantages to be had here in music and schools.

Mrs. A. J. Gichrist is about to leave Wichita for Hutchinson, and regrets the interruption the change of residence will cause in her daughter, Fern's vocal lessons. Miss Fern was making good progress under Miss Clark's instruction.

Misses Mattie Howe and Wanda Taylor have returned, refreshed and happy, from a pleasant visit with friends in the country.

Miss Edith Eaton is home again, after a vacation with friends spent at Cairo.

Miss Nina Allen is out of town for a short vacation.

Miss Emma Wagner is visiting her old home in Illinois.

Mrs. Frank Redfield of the piano school, is visiting friends out of town.

Miss Minnie Myers is taking a month's well earned vacation, after a year of close application to her piano music.

Miss Harriet Stanley, daughter of Governor Stanley, for several years a diligent student at the conservatory, was a welcome visitor Wednesday, in company with Misses Battin and Findley, of the piano school.

Postal requests for catalogues and letters of inquiry regarding the methods and curriculum of the school, are received in large numbers from points throughout the southwest. Many pupils from southern Kansas and the territories are expected to attend the Conservatory this fall and winter.

The following program was given at the recital Friday:

Wichita Commercial College Notes.

Mr. John A. Benson, who finished the full commercial course last spring, entered Monday for the complete shorthand and typewriting course.

Mr. Helena and wife, from Butler county, called during the week to arrange for their son to take the commercial course this fall.

Mr. J. N. Covault, a recent student, is filling Mr. Herman's position as bookkeeper for the Moore Publishing company during Mr. Herman's vacation to the mountains.

Miss Blanche Shilling of the shorthand department has accepted a position in the office of Mr. Frank Sherman of this city.

Misses Jennie Day and Beadie Jones returned to school the fore part of the week, after a pleasant vacation of about six weeks. They will each take up the study of bookkeeping in connection with advanced work in shorthand and typewriting.

Professor Harper, president of a business college of Saginaw, Mich., and one of Professor Robbins' former students, made a pleasant call Friday.

Miss Wells has accepted a position with the Cuddy Packing company, while Mr. Miranda returns to his home at Kingman, Kan., to look after his candidacy for county clerk.

The annual melon social will be held on the lawn of Professor Robbins, 21 Wabash avenue, Friday evening, August 22. The students are all looking forward to a very enjoyable time.

Believing in the principal of expansion, the college is enlarging its quarters by removing the large partitions on the east side of the actual business department, preparatory to the increased attendance at the fall opening in September.

Mr. F. W. Miracle and Miss Hattie Wells completed the shorthand and typewriting course Friday and were awarded the college diploma.

Mr. Robert Stewart, one of the first graduates of the college, made two very pleasant calls while in the city during the week. His home is now in Cincinnati, O.

Fazel-Adams Business College Notes.

Mr. S. C. Hunt, a former student, called on us last Saturday and shook hands with old friends, while on his way to Valley Center from Medford, Oklahoma, where he has been running an engine during the fall. Mr. Hunt thinks he will be back to school a little later for a course in shorthand.

Mr. Harry Downs, an old student, called Tuesday, while on his way to Colorado for a vacation.

Miss Ruby Grimes, of the shorthand and bookkeeping department, took a position with the Wichita Produce company this week.

Miss Mary Lyman has returned to school and has taken up shorthand again for the court reporter course.

Mr. B. F. Stansbury has taken a position with the A. T. & S. F. railway, as stenographer and clerk.

Professor Isely and Roullet of Fairmount college, favored us with a very pleasant call on Tuesday last.

Miss Cora West left school this week preparatory to teaching for the winter. Miss West will teach southeast of the city, where she has taught for four years. She seems to be as efficient in the school room as a teacher as she is a student.

A letter received by one of the students from Mr. Williamson, who was in the bookkeeping department last winter, says that he wishes he had stayed in school a little longer.

Mr. Raymond Crane, one of the last years' students, called Tuesday and inquired about night school for this year, saying that he would like to take up his work again.

Fred Belden went to Eureka this week with the El Dorado baseball team, where he caught two games for them.

Prof. Harper, proprietor of a business college in Saginaw, Michigan, with his nephew, of this city, made us a pleasant visit on Thursday and gave us some pointers on his college work in the north.

Miss Margaret Jamieson left for her home in Clearwater on Friday for a two week's vacation.

Misses Lent and Cole, of Greenwich, called Friday to see Miss Jackson, of the shorthand department.

Mr. Frank Dearth, a former student, called Friday; also Miss Lucy Thomas, the efficient stenographer for Deal & Trent Lumber company.
